

Our mission is to spark conversation and positive action toward a preferred Vineyard future for the island and island community through collaborative innovation.

We began as a series of grassroots meetings of diverse island leaders, across the six towns, concerned that important island issues were not being addressed urgently enough. These meetings began in 2018 and were initiated and led by Dennis daRosa and Bob Johnston.

Our vision is to create a preferred future for Martha's Vineyard through Collaborative Innovation.

We have defined a mission to unite and create a collective among all those working for the good of the island, in both the public and private sectors, so that future planning takes place at a regional level, information is shared cross-island, and the full strength of island creativity is unleashed.
